will be provided.

In this interactive workshop, participants will learn how to create a student-centered portfolio, including tools for talking with your child about his or her learning.

At the end of the workshop, parents will be able to:

- better support their child's learning at home;
- find matching after school activities;
- use student input to inspire and inform parent-school communication.

Presented by the Cambridge Parent Advisory Council on Special Education and the CPS Office of Academic Challenge and Enrichment.
