2021 Community Awards & Scholarships

CRLS

Cambridge Rindge and Latin School

January 2021

Dear Students and Parent/Guardians,

Each year CRLS is fortunate to award scholarships to its graduating seniors because of the generosity of the City of Cambridge, its businesses and citizens as well as CPS Alumni. Last year 260 individual scholarships were awarded totaling more than $400,877. In addition to the scholarships listed in this booklet, notices of new scholarships are listed in the CRLS scholarship bulletins provided to students on a regular basis. Additional scholarship information is also available on the web sites listed at the end of this booklet.

Seniors should read the information at the beginning of this booklet with care and follow the instructions for completing the Standard Application and special attachments. The deadline for submitting all application materials is Friday, February 26th at 11:59 PM.

The Scholarship Selection Committee evaluates each application in terms of academic accomplishment, financial need and contributions made to the school and to the community. Incomplete applications or applications submitted after February 17th deadline will not be accepted. The College and Career Resource Center is available to assist you with your application process.

We hope that you will take advantage of all the opportunities for scholarships that are available to you.

Sincerely,

Susie VanBlaricum and Maria DiClemente
CRLS Scholarship Coordinators

Honey Jones Artistic Gap Year Adventure Scholarship

Sponsor: Ms. Julie Ayaz

Description: $750 scholarship

Eligibility: $750 scholarship to be awarded to a graduating student of color who has decided to embark on a gap year to pursue artistic dreams. The student need not be affiliated with an official gap year program, but some evidence or plan in the form of a personal statement should be offered, if possible at this time.

The token amount of money is intended to support the student in spirit and in solidarity and recognition of their dreams. Money can be applied to any needs relevant to artistic pursuits, in visual, performing, or written arts. Uses might include application, audition or entry fees, supplies, lessons, mentorships, living costs and especially travel, when it becomes a viable option.

The sponsor would be especially inclined to support students with ideas that are nature-themed or inspired by the beauty of and respect for the natural world, or the convergence or contrast of the man-made world and the natural world, and also would support students who are not sure what they want to do but show initiative and desire for journaling and photography who would be interested in sharing their experiences and works at a later date. There is no contingency that the student must enter a college program after the gap year, but some evidence of a future plan should be also expressed in the student's personal statement.

This scholarship is offered under the name of the sponsor's new art studio/gallery and is also very close to her heart and her own experiences and those of my children. The sponsor writes: "I was raised in a family that did not have many resources, but did strive to be supportive, especially of a life in the arts and humanities. My own children have all taken gap years, had homeschooling experiences and many travel adventures that have offered a break from traditional settings, enhanced their perspective of natural and cultural worlds, and also helped foster respect for the balance of needs and understanding of inequities we experience in our society as individuals and groups. And in our current situation, nobody really knows what will be happening, except that the virtual world is becoming more commonplace. Students are having to commit to decisions which present a new array of uncertainties, more than the usual. I would think more students than ever might embrace gap year possibilities at this time."

The recipient student is also invited to show a body of work, or a presentation of experiences at Honey Jones gallery after their gap year adventure or gap several months comes to an end and they are ready to go to the next stage in continuous transitions toward emotional and social maturity and artistic and financial independence.

A 1955 alumni of Rindge Technical School, known today as Rindge School of Technical Arts at Cambridge Rindge and Latin School, Don was formally trained in telecommunications with a 25 year career at GTE Sylvania. A jack of all trades at home, self-taught in many vocational areas including electrical, plumbing, carpentry, if Don had a DIY project he would research how to do it, review the necessary equipment to complete it and fully prepare for the task at hand. Never a tool would be a miss because the garage and basement workbench were a mini Home Depot! Every project was approached with precision, just like everything else in life for Don, it was always about quality versus boastful showmanship. Don was also a devoted worshiper and Youth Ministry Leader at St. Anthony's Church in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

HELPFUL FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION

Financial Aid Assistance for CRLS Students

CRLS has partnered with uAspire for several years to provide financial aid assistance to CRLS seniors and caregivers. This year, uAspire is providing text based and virtual financial aid assistance to CRLS students. Students may opt into uAspire's programming by texting (617) 362-6814. Students will then receive a set of questions asking who they are and what school they attend. After answering those questions students will be able to receive and send messages to the uAspire staff right away. uAspire also provides assistance with scholarship searches, FAFSA financial aid application, CSS Profile and reviewing college financial aid award letters. When opting into the texting program students will receive financial aid support through their sophomore year in college.

How Financial Aid Works

As you are applying to college you need to figure out how you are going to pay for school once you are accepted. Most students pay for their education using different available forms of financial aid. Grants and scholarships do not have to be paid back. Work-study is money that you earn by working at a part-time job while you are at school, and a loan is money that you borrow that must be paid back, usually after you graduate or leave school. There are two types of financial aid. One is called merit-aid. This means you receive aid based on how good you are at something. Need-based aid means how much you receive will depend on how much aid you need and how much you and your family can afford. One of the rules of need-based financial aid is that students and their families are expected to pay what they can afford. The amount that you and your family will be expected to contribute is called the Estimated Family Contribution (EFC).

Applying for financial aid

In order to find out how much money you and your family will be expected to contribute you must fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). You are asked to fill out a questionnaire about your family size, income, the number of people in your family who are attending college and your family. The FAFSA is available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov

PROFILE Forms

In addition to FAFSA, The CSS Profile is required by many private colleges and universities. Deadlines to complete the CSS Profile vary by institution but can be due at the time of application. You can find a list of colleges that require the CSS Profile by going to <https://profile.collegeboard.org>. Information obtained from the profile will be used to determine a student's eligibility for a college or university's own funds. The CSS Profile is an online application that can be accessed by going to <https://cssprofile.collegeboard.org>. There is a fee for CSS registration and sending the report to one college is $25. Additional reports are $16 each. CSS Profile fee waivers cover all registration and reporting fees. Once a student completes the CSS Profile the program determines fee waiver eligibility.

Additional Documentation

As supplements to the FAFSA and PROFILE, some families may be asked to submit the following information:

A Divorced/Separated Parent's Statement. This is a supplement to the PROFILE for the non-custodial parent requested by many colleges. Copies of the completed form should be sent directly to the college's financial aid office.

A Business/Farm Supplement. A supplement to the PROFILE required by some colleges if a parent is self-employed or a farmer. This should be sent directly to the college's financial aid office.

Beware of Scams

You should never pay money to receive a scholarship, apply for a scholarship or obtain scholarship information. These tell-tale lines should be considered suspicious:

This scholarship is guaranteed or your money back; I just need your credit card information to hold this scholarship; The scholarship will cost some money; You can't get this information anywhere else; We'll do all the work; You've been selected by a national foundation to receive a scholarship or "you're a finalist" in a contest you never entered.
